BIG DAY IN BEDFORD

Bargains, Road Demonstration, Music, Pictures.

The largest and best stocked Department Store in Central Pennsylvania will have its grand opening at 10 a. m., July 20, 1915.

$1,000,000 worth of stock will be displayed. There will be bargains in every department.

No department store ever before offered such an opportunity. The big city stores offer daily bargains in one or two departments. Our Department is big bargains in all departments on the same day.

Where is Bedford's New Department Store? It is just every live store in town.

All these windows will be tightly curtained to hide the special and beautiful display prepared for visitors.

The town will be gay with flags and bunting. An extra fine band concert will precede the Grand Opening. At 10 sharp the whistle will blow, curtains will be lifted.

It is to be the biggest day in the history of Bedford; it is to be the biggest chance you ever had to do your shopping.

This is the day of the Great Dirt Road Demonstration. The men are coming in to see how splendid road can be made for little money, and we want the ladies to come with them, because they, too, must travel the bad roads; and because with the establishment of good roads our section will become more prosperous and home comforts and conveniences will follow in the wake of that prosperity.

Make no mistake. There will be bargains and chances that the ladies simply can't afford to miss. It is to be a big prosperity day and a big shopping day.

Rest rooms with lavatories will be at the service of the ladies and children.

Every hotel and restaurant will set up specially fine dinners and suppers.

The moving picture shows will run afternoon and evening with a specially fine 5c program, equal to the usual city 10c show.

Band concerts during the day and evening. Fine speeches in the evening.

The State Highway Commissioner and his official staff, the presidents and secretaries of the Altoona and Huntingdon Chambers of Commerce and other distinguished visitors will be our guests; and there will be big crowds come by train and motor from all over the three counties that are working together on this day.

The First "Water Wagon" Tourists Visit Bedford

The great temperance gathering in Assembly Hall on Tuesday evening marked an event in the rallying of local anti-liquor forces which cannot fail in fruitage of more aggressive effort for the encouragement of sobriety for the individual, the securing of wholesome State laws, with Prohibition as the ultimate goal in both State and Nation.

Dr. Howard H. Russell, founder of the Anti-Saloon League and Lincoln-Lee Legion, as speaker of the evening proved himself master of the situation and by facts and figures traced the progress of the Anti-Saloon League from its organization to the present; its power as felt in States which have outlawed the traffic in intoxicating beverages, together with its ability to unite all forces for the securing of Nation-wide Prohibition.

High tribute was paid the Woman's Christian Temperance Union as a mighty educational factor in the great work of reform for years prior to the League's organization, as also a present day power.

Dr. Russell is an ardent Lincoln Highway enthusiast as also an advocate of the Lincoln Total Abstinence Pledge.

The "Rail Splitter" Quartet delighted the audience with their musical numbers which consisted of patriotic songs and other melodies of Lincoln's time.

At close of the meeting the audience joined the speaker as he gave the National Slogan and with upraised right hands and clenched fists declared: "With God's help we will see this thing through."

More music and a voluntary offering taken for the work concluded an evening of genuine pleasure and profit.

The tourists made an early start Wednesday morning for Lionier, their next appointment. The final meetings of the tour will be held in San Francisco September 5th and 12th.

REV. K. A. BISHARA TO SPEAK

At the Union Service on the Square Next Sunday Evening.

The frequent showers during the day, and the threatening skies in the evening made an outdoor service on the Public Square impossible last Sunday night. However, a goodly number of worshippers from the various churches gathered in the Trinity Lutheran Church where an interesting service was held in which Rev. Faus, who had been a delegate to the recent National Convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America at Atlantic City, gave an instructive report of that great convention.

If the weather is favorable upon next Sunday evening the service will again be held upon the square, and Dr. K. A. Bishara of the Presbyterian Church will be the speaker.

Sunday School Convention

The Sunday School convention of District Number 14 was held at the Methodist Church, Rainsburg, Saturday evening, July 10. The meeting was very well attended. Special music was rendered by the Rainsburg choir and recitations by Miss Virginia Reighard and Master Robert James. Addresses, timely and helpful, were given by Elias Gibson of Bedford and Rev. Benjamin F. Hilbish of Wolfburg.

Mr. Gibson spoke on the Home Department. He said the aim of this department should be to re-establish the Family Altar in all the homes. The Family Altar is an essential thing in every home if we want to bring our children up in the love and knowledge of God. It is an essential thing if we as a nation want to maintain in reality as well as in name that we are a Christian nation.

Rev. Hilbish spoke on Teacher Training. He said we need more efficient teachers in our Sunday schools, not necessarily along intellectual lines, but especially in the spirit and love of Jesus Christ. We must be sincere and in order to do our best work we may not be lacking along intellectual lines although this does hold second place. To be efficient as teachers we must practice and live the divine truths. Let it be our aim to be a Front Line School, that is, a Front Line in reality and not in name only.

The following officers were elected: President, B. Frank Whetstone; Vice President, Frank Cessna; Secretary, Howard W. Ressler; Assistant Secretary, W. F. Biddle; Treasurer, D. W. Diehl; Superintendent Gracie Roll, Cora Filler; Superintendent Intermediate Department, Mrs. Joseph Diehl; Superintendent O. A. B. C. E. M. Smith; Superintendent Missions, Mrs. W. F. Biddle; Superintendent Temperance, Mrs. Sparks; Superintendent Home Department, Rev. Walter C. Pugh; Superintendent Teacher Training, Rev. Benjamin F. Hilbish.

A motion was made that we have a union picnic of all the schools of this district and make one large table out of mother earth and all break bread together. All friends are invited to spend the day with us. Watch the paper for the exact date. It will be either the 14th or 21st of August, the day we can get Charlesville P. O. S. of A. Band. W. C. P.

Hair and Scalp Need Daily Care

If you value the appearance of your hair you should treat your scalp as often and well as you brush your teeth and rub into the scalp pores twice daily a little Parisian Sage. This treatment is not a mere "hair tonic." It is bottled nourishment for the hair roots and it is simply wonderful what an improvement its use for even a week will make in the appearance of anyone's hair. It never injures, is delightfully cool and pleasant to the scalp and takes out the dull, lifeless look in the hair, making it soft, fluffy, glossy and beautiful. Two or three applications remove every trace of dandruff, and daily use will prevent its return. Sold by F. W. Jordan, Jr., and leading druggists everywhere.—Adv. 16 July 21

THE AUTOMOBILE AND DEMOCRACY

During the earlier day of the motor-car, to be seen riding in an automobile was a sign of wealth and luxury. People of modest means and humble social position felt flattered to be invited to ride even a short distance in a machine. They felt disappointed if they were not observed by friends.

Laborers working on the roads were often seen shaking their fists at passing motorists. The machine in their minds stood as the representative of a cruel capitalist system of wealth and luxury. It was the proletariat defying the aristocracy manifested in the flesh in their presence. It was a symbolic and class act, with no personal animus back of it.

In the rural districts the feeling was bitter. One farmer was known to put a gun in the back of his wagon on his way to town, openly threatening that he would use it on the first motorist he met. That farmer has a machine now.

The abuses of operation of automobiles have grown worse rather than better since that time. Wherever there are cities and large towns, the roads are crowded with a pushing, hurrying crowd of drivers. How this traffic is to be regulated, and common decency enforced on people of rash temperament, is one of the daily problems of life.

Meanwhile the recent notable price cuts in machines, and others likely soon to come, are bringing the automobile within reach of a new army of buyers. Already a moderate priced automobile, with good care, is cheaper to maintain than a horse and carriage.

The automobile is no longer a badge or expression of class feeling. Soon the man of wealth may begin retiring from a company which is growing too common for his taste. The farmers are said to own more of them than any one class. The motor crowd in exterior aspects is far from bearing the marks of distinction. It all looks plain and common enough, in one equal democracy of dust.

Kitchen Hints Worth Remembering

Salt is a good absorbent, as the housewife will discover if she runs for the salt receptacle when ink is spilled on the carpet or on the tablecloth, and puts on salt, renewing the salt as fast as it absorbs the ink. If the salt is put on the ink promptly it is generally so effective that practically no ink stain remains.

An added flavor is given to after-dinner black coffee if each lump of sugar to be served with it is rubbed with a piece of lemon peel a few moments before time to bring on the coffee. Orange peel adds a delicate touch to the afternoon tea if the sugar to be used is rubbed with it a little while before it is served.

Dishes in which eggs have been prepared or batter and dough mixed in should be rinsed with cold water before they are washed. If put in hot water before the cold water is applied the heat will cook the eggs or the flour paste sufficiently to make it stick to the dishes.

Potatoes used instead of soap will keep the hands clean and the skin soft. The water in which potatoes have been boiled is a good wash for table silver, and keeps it bright with little or no exertion on the part of the housewife.

Catarrh Caused by a Germ

How to Destroy the Germ and End Disease
To cure catarrh so it won't come back you must, according to a noted authority, first drive from your body the millions of germs that are flourishing in the inner recesses of your nose and throat and are causing the disease.

There is a preparation which does this called Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei). Hyomei is a germ killing vaporized air formed from the purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other healing and antiseptic ingredients. You breathe Hyomei through the mouth and nose by means of a little hard rubber inhaler which druggists furnish with it. This medicated germicidal air penetrates into every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of your nose and throat. Kills the catarrh germs that lodge there, soothes, reduces and heals the swollen inflamed membranes, stops the discharge and opens up the clogged nose and air passages in a truly wonderful way. F. W. Jordan, Jr., and many other leading druggists in Bedford and vicinity guarantee that it must cure catarrh or that the money paid for it will be refunded.—Adv. 9 July 21.

HELLEBORE FOR FLIES

New and Effective Method of Destroying Larvae—No Risk to Live Stock or Damage to Crops Involved.

A safe and effective weapon against the typhoid or house fly has been found in powdered hellebore by scientists of the department. Flies lay their eggs chiefly in stable manure. Powdered hellebore mixed with water and sprinkled over the manure will destroy the larvae which are hatched from the eggs. Since powdered hellebore is readily obtainable, this puts in the hands of everyone a remedy for one of the pests that has been found dangerous as well as troublesome. Powdered hellebore, however, will not kill adult flies, which must be swatted or trapped.

It has long been known that flies breed in manure, but previous methods of destroying the larvae there by the use of strong chemicals have been open to the objection that the treatment under some conditions lessened the fertilizing value of the manure or actually injured vegetation. This is not true of powdered hellebore. Government experiments have shown that the hellebore is entirely decomposed in the course of the fermentation of the manure, and that even in excessive quantities it does no harm except to the larvae it is intended to destroy. Chickens picking in manure treated with it suffer no ill effects.

One-half pound of powdered hellebore mixed with 10 gallons of water is sufficient to kill the larvae in 8 bushels, or 10 cubic feet, of manure. The mixture should be sprinkled carefully over the pile, especial attention being paid to the outer edges. In most places hellebore is obtainable in 100-pound lots at a cost of 11 cents a pound. This makes the cost of the treatment a little less than seven-tenths of a cent per bushel of manure. A liberal estimate of the output of manure is two bushels a day per horse. The money involved is therefore trifling in comparison with the benefits to the individual and the community from the practical elimination of the disease-spreading fly.

Although fresh manure is the favorite breeding spot, flies lay their eggs in other places as well, such as out-houses, refuse piles, etc. In these places, from which no manure is taken to spread on the fields, considerable saving may be effected through the substitution of borax for powdered hellebore. Applied at the rate of 0.62 pounds per 8 bushels of manure, borax is as effective as powdered hellebore in killing the larvae but costs less than half a cent for each bushel of manure treated. In larger quantities, however, or when the manure itself is spread at a greater rate than 15 tons to the acre, some damage to crops may result. Large quantities of manure are often used by market gardeners and others, and there is always danger of carelessness in applying the borax. The use of the more expensive but safer hellebore is therefore recommended for the treatment of manure. Borax is recommended for all other refuse in which flies may lay eggs.

Scientists who have been working for years to eliminate the fly are convinced that the use of one or the other of these simple measures is a public duty wherever manure and refuse exist. Sanitarians, however, strongly advise the removal of refuse heaps or other unnecessary rubbish or breeding places for flies. In breeding places which cannot be thus disposed of, such as manure or stables, the daily use of powdered hellebore will keep the flies from breeding in these favorite breeding grounds. The best results are obtainable in a community where everyone cleans up his premises, traps or kills the flies, and systematically treats the manure and other breeding places with powdered hellebore.

The fly is not only a nuisance to human beings and live stock, it spreads disease and filth and is a menace to public health which can not be tolerated in the face of a demonstrated remedy. Details of the experiments with other information on the subject are contained in a professional paper, Bulletin 245 of the department.

Quilting Bee

A very enjoyable time was held at the home of S. G. Bollman of Snake Spring on Wednesday, July 7. The ladies present were busily engaged with the needle and thread until 12 o'clock when dinner was announced, and all entered the dining room and participated in the good "eats" of the season. All report having spent an enjoyable day.

Those present were: Mesdames John Snyder, S. S. Baker, George A. Snyder, Lee Foreman, Tyson Price, Joseph Snyder, Andrew Wareham, David Dunkle, Isaac Snyder, Philip Wyles, Elias Baker, Thomas Dibert, Daniel England, Godfrey Rusher, Samuel Hershberger, Samuel Beegle, David Bollman, Harry Smith, Daniel Shuss, Martin Beegle, Dorsey Pepple, George Diehl, William Bollman, Roy Miller, Sherman Grimes, David Ritchey, Elmer Price, Frank Shearer, Lloyd Baker, John Goehenour, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Bollman and family; Misses Rachel Shuss, Edith Koonitz, Cassie Snyder, Rosie Snyder, Rebecca Baker, Mildred Beegle, Clara Price, Grace Foreman, Margaret Reighard, Anna Heit, Mary Heit, Susan Baker, Freda Baker, Melba Bollman, Josephine Baker, Marjorie Pepple, Paul Wyles, Clyde Baker, Isaac Wareham, Cleonah Baker, Glen Smith and Kenneth Miller.

The country is to be deluged with wheat this year. In years gone by it was not out of the ordinary to hear a farmer declare that he made more money out of a small crop than a big one, the latter generally depressing the price so that there was not much profit in raising it. But this season, the crop promises not only to be large but prices high.

Congressman Bailey's Letter to President Wilson

Johnstown, Pa., July 12.—Congressman Warren Worth Bailey of this city, member for the Nineteenth Pennsylvania district, today sent a letter to President Wilson in which he says he believes the people he represents are without regard to party, in sympathy with the President's peace policy and hopeful that he will resist the pressure of those anxious to have him forsake it for one of "blood and iron."

Mr. Bailey's letter to the President follows: Hon. Woodrow Wilson, Cornish, N. H.

My dear Mr. President: I hope you will pardon this intrusion upon your brief season of rest. It is ventured only because it is felt that, as a representative of the people of this district, the duty rests upon me to convey to you what I believe to be the sentiment which prevails among them touching the situation which has developed in connection with the Lusitania affair.

First of all, permit me to say that, without respect to party, you possess the full confidence of an overwhelming majority of those whom I have the honor to represent. They have faith in your judgment, in your patriotism and in your courage, faith most of all in your moral quality, your strength to do the right, even against a tremendous pressure that would force you to choose a course fraught with gravest possibilities of evil. They implicitly trust in you to disappoint those who would have this country resort to force in the adjustment of a difference which it is confidently believed you can handle with dignity and honor without even a hint of the iron hand.

It has been my privilege to confer with a great many people in my neighborhood and beyond it regarding the pending controversy with the German government. Practically without exception those with whom I have conversed or from whom I have heard express the earnest hope that patience may be exercised and a happy solution found, without abatement of the stand we have taken in the interest of humanity, and yet without the slightest threat of violence. Surely the points of difference which have been brought out are not beyond the range of rational discussion. In all conscience there must be a better way than the one suggested by those who are urging you to substitute the sword for the pen.

The United States are the light of the world in this hour of darkness. Can we afford to dim the splendor of that light by plunging the country into a situation where its identity would be lost in the murk of this awful conflict involving more than half the world? Can we afford to sacrifice the high estate which peace affords us in order to assert a right which the moral sentiment of mankind will surely recognize and time inevitably vindicate?

It is not overlooked that the metropolitan press is practically a unit in presenting a view contrary to the one I am venturing to offer, but it is certain that the metropolitan press speaks for the country, for the great mass of the American people? I think not. The mass of the people want peace and they have come to love and trust you because they believe you too stand for peace and for the methods of peace rather than for the methods of war. They believe you have the purpose and capacity to maintain the national honor without resort to fire and sword; and I feel profoundly that in writing you to urge the exercise of patience and forbearance in a time when these virtues are so much needed and so little in evidence in a war-torn world I am performing a duty which would be inexcusable in one who holds a commission from the people as their representative.

Yours sincerely,
Warren Worth Bailey.

Stomach Troubles Quickly Cured

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years, and imagine they have a serious disease. They over-eat or over-drink and force on the stomach a lot of extra work, but they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do the extra work. If these people would take Tonic Tablets regularly they would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of over-work. No matter what you eat or drink Tonic Tablets will ease your sour stomach and stop gas belching in five minutes. The heaviness disappears, and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

Tonic Tablets not only promptly relieve all distress, but if taken regularly will absolutely cure indigestion by building up the flabby, overworked walls of the stomach and make them strong enough to digest the most hearty meal. $1 for a 50 days' treatment. Mailed by American Proprietary Co., Boston, Mass.—Ad. 16 July 21

One way to relieve habitual constipation is to take regularly a mild laxative. Doan's Regulets are recommended for this purpose. 25c a box at all drug stores.—Adv.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Interesting Notes From Our Correspondent at National Capital.

Washington, D. C., July 13.—The police force at the United States Capitol building following the explosion of the bomb placed there by Frank Holt has been increased by fifteen men. These additional men are all in plain clothes, and aside from their duties of guarding the inside of the building they will patrol the subway of the House of Representatives and Senate office buildings and through the Capitol grounds.

The warning contained in a letter written by a man named Pearce, claiming to be an associate of Holt's in crime, caused the Navy Department to notify vessels that recently sailed of the danger of bombs concealed in their cargoes. The government authorities are proceeding on the theory that there exists a conspiracy of greater or less extent to blow up ships plying between American ports and those of the allies. Secret service agents have begun a nationwide man-hunt for the persons involved. By some it is believed that the attempt made months ago to blow up the French liner La Touraine was one of the first efforts of this conspiracy. Unofficially, however, some of the detectives assigned to the Pearce case have declared that there are indications the letter was written for the sensation it would create. Nevertheless, the officials are determined to run the case down and punish the writer, even though he may prove to be a practical joker.

Consideration of unsatisfactory and evasive German reply to the American note on submarine warfare overshadows all else in the work of the State Department officials. Secretary Lansing is spending most of his time preparing data and opinions for the next communication to be sent to Germany. Any reply probably will not go to "Cornish, N. H.," but that President Wilson will return here at the end of the week.

The situation is described in official quarters as critical, and there is no concealment of the fact that relations between Germany and the United States have become more strained than heretofore. That President Wilson might not afford Germany another opportunity to disavow intent to murder the 100 or more American citizens on the Lusitania was a possibility which, for a time was given most serious consideration. The taking over of the Sayville radio wireless telegraph plant by the Navy Department last week, is regarded by officials of the Department as a closed incident. Any protests by the Atlantic Communication Company, owners of the station, will be regarded as made merely for the protection of its legal rights. Apparently, the action of the United States in seizing the plant has met with the approval of the German government. It has been learned through German embassy officials that no complaint will be lodged with the State Department by the German government.

Department of Justice officials have taken steps to suppress what is regarded as another attempt to violate the neutrality of the United States by outfitting an armed expedition to participate in the Mexican revolution such as caused the arrest of General Huerta two weeks ago. General Felix Diaz, nephew of the former dictator of the southern republic, is supposed to be the principal figure in the movement. According to information received, four vessels are involved. General Diaz, it is said, plans to have the four ships land their cargoes with men somewhere on the coast of Yucatan, there to furnish the basis of a new military movement in Mexico. Collector of Customs Malone, at New York, has been instructed to prevent the clearance of one of the suspected vessels from that port.

A recent canvass shows that President Wilson is much stronger politically with the people of the United States than is his party. He is stronger than he was six months ago, of the European war situation, particularly the Lusitania incident. Whether or not this popularity is of a kind that can be turned to political account in 1916 is uncertain. Depending largely upon future developments in the foreign relations of the country.

Among the Republicans, the canvass indicated a preference for Elihu Root as the party candidate, because he is regarded as sound on the tariff, and has distinguished himself in the Senate and while he was in the cabinet, it being believed that the foreign policy of the government, as well as the prosperity of the country, would be safe in his hands.

Thomas A. Edison, the greatest inventor in the world, has accepted the invitation of Secretary Daniels to head an advisory board of civilian inventors to the Bureau of invention and Development to be created in the Navy Department. Mr. Daniels' idea is to utilize the inventive genius of America in and out of military and naval service to meet the conditions of warfare shown in the conflict on land and sea in Europe. The plan is to have several men prominent in special lines of inventive research associated in the work.

It is feared that the out of eight cents a day in the wages of mechanics employed in the Washington navy yard may result in large numbers of men leaving the government employ to go with private concerns turning out arms for the European war. The wage board of the Navy Department is seeking a method of fixing the wage scale at the navy yard here so as to conform with the prevailing rate of pay elsewhere. It is urged that the government is making a serious mistake in allowing these men to go in view of our foreign complications, and that the men themselves are acting unwisely in accepting private employment which may only be of a temporary character.

According to a statement just issued by the Treasury Department, the net debt of the United States at the conclusion of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1915, amounted to $1,089,848,000. The amount of revenue received daily by the government for the first part of July, however, has ranged from $1,100,000 to $2,400,162.74.

Government employes in Washington who are legal residents of the State of New York feel sanguine that the New York constitutional convention which is now in session will make some provision for the registration by mail of such voters of the State as may be employed elsewhere by the government of the United States, by commercial houses and railroad lines. New York voters here are vigorously urging the convention to adopt such a provision in order to relieve them of the annoyance of making two trips home at election time—one to register and another to vote.

The District of Columbia naval battalion is on its annual cruise on board the U. S. S. Kearsarge, off New York City. The local battalion has retrieved its defeat of a year ago at the hands of the North Carolina naval militia in target practice by making a score announced at 24 hits out of 64 to the North Carolina battalion's 16 out of 80.

Protests against the mistreatment of Jews in Armenia and Russia and insistent demands for the recognition of the Hebrew race at the peace conference which will follow the war were voiced at a well attended meeting of representatives of the Zionist societies of Washington. A national Zionist conference is expected to be called in a few months to urge that Palestine be turned over to the Jews; that the Jewish people receive equal rights in all countries, and that a representative of the Jewish people be in attendance at the conference which will draw up the terms of peace in Europe.

What Lady Wears Upon Her Head and Around Her Neck Defies Time and Place, to Suit Her Fancy

Summer Furs at 90° Fahrenheit

New York, July 14, 1915. Transparent hats and furs, velvet, head-gear and low necks—these are some of the things in the summer fashions that men question, and even a few women come up to and shy at, as the thermometer soars skyward. The little maiden with her "rikisha" hat goes serenely on, the girl with the white fox furs hugs them more closely, and the wearer of the velvet hat sedately raises a parasol. Such matters are beyond the comprehension of mere man or the woman who was brought up to view clothes for comfort.

A Sports Hat of Blue Taffeta, the Woven "Rikisha" and Silk Sador; the "Chin-Chin," the Jabot and the Puritan Collar.

Their very oddity is the lure that makes them popular. What matters a coat of tan if the hat is woven with holes to duplicate the head-dress of the man that pulls the jirikisha in Japan?

Even the woman who is conservative with her dress and suit, casts wisdom to the winds above the shoulder-line. What lies above bespeaks the true woman who, in her heart of hearts, loves the fantasies of fashion. The demure Quaker and saucy "Chin-Chin" collars, the floppy hat and stiff brimmed sailor, even the plug hat of silk beaver fringe that Mrs. Vernon Castle made famous at the races, appeal to those of us who like something "different."

The mode breathes romance, and romance is what fashion thrives on. Every hat and every collar awakens a memory or tells a new tale. It is interesting to note that the Quaker Collar has its origin in the collar of the man's costume. How scandalized the shades of the old-time Quaker and Puritan must be to see their collars made in frivolous organdy, Swiss and cretonne! Jabots and frills come from another period, when French courtiers wore furbelows. In modern times, Sara Bernhardt gives her famous youth-giving frill to the high collar, while the flaming half collars that are still shown on dresses and waists harp back to a portrait of Shelley. Nor is the mode without humor; "Chin-Chin" collars, aimed at a giddy masquerade costume, have gone far of the mark and appear on coats.

Past modes are drawn on for hats, too. In an exclusive shop, just off the Avenue, one of the girls of the younger set ordered a garden hat the other day of white chip, with a pyramid of pink roses—the exact duplicate of the hat her great-grandmother wore when she tripped across the lawns at the Capitol. All these garden hats of leghorn and Milan recall Colonial days. Even the "rikisha," imported in spirit from Japan, smacks of this style when trimmed with roses, the black varnished cord of which it is made contrasting with the light frocks.

Broadly speaking, the hats of the season are divided into four classes; these portrait-fashion garden hats, stiff-brimmed sailors that bespeak the past or the present, according to the materials and trimmings; the sports hats, borrowed from the four corners of the globe, and last, but not least, the cocky turbans, which show the martial note in millinery.

The stiff-brimmed sailors are a chapter in themselves. Already, the straws are on the wane. Chiffon brims we have tired of, and so the attention naturally turns to sailors of blue taffeta, black velvet and cretonne. "America," the white, leather-faced, blue taffeta, is a worthy emblem to the country from which it takes its name. White beaded wings for trimming bring to mind the speed of Mercury; and the glory of ancient Rome lies in other bead trimming for other taffeta hats.

Black velvets, shiny and plushy as cat's fur, are embroidered with fleecy white wool, as wintry as possible to shock the sun of summer. Birds and animals in the wool crawl over the crowns, and the brims are invariably finished in old-fashioned quilt-stitch, varied in length to make a design.

With white linen and cretonne costumes, "Miss Mary" cretonne hats make a smart finish. These need no trimming, the bright colors being gay enough for any summer landscape, whether mountains, country or shore.

Sports hats come from odd nooks and corners. The latest, a dark blue taffeta, is decidedly Chinese in aspect. It has a sloping brim, with a soft edge an inch wide that flaps down and shades the face, dented on one side with heavy balls suspended from the ends of a cord tied around the crown. Scotland contributed the tam, and there is a soft hat made completely of narrow bias strips of silk that is finding favor under a "Made-in-America" label.

A Garden Hat of White Chip, the Military Turban and Sports Hat of Bias Silk Strips, with the Flaring, the Standing and the Quaker Collar.

Those of the turbans that are smart are military, tipped fearlessly to one side, with sides of velvet and crowns of silk. Indeed, so simple and so smart are these hats, they baffle description.

At the present time, hats come under these four classes, black and white prevailing, dark blue being the exception that proves the rule. Later, when suits grow darker, no doubt, hats will gain in brilliance. Already in Paris there is a trend in this direction. From the City of Modes we receive such messages as: "Occasionally, a very brilliant spot of color will be noticed in the hat, current-colored hats or hats of the new blue de l'été being worn with the tailored suits of beige, white, dark navy blue or brown;" that "The Italian military 'bersagliere' is being worn with its flowing cocks plumes at the side," and again, "The suits of tan are usually trimmed with wide shawl collars of white wool or faille silk, and are topped by tiny white hats or by broad-brimmed sailors made of soft white crepe de Chine."

Location of Orchards

The slope or exposure of an orchard site is the point of the compass toward which the land inclines. A question very commonly asked is, "What slope is best?" It is one that admits of no direct answer. No one slope is preferable under all conditions and in all regions. In fact, the influence which a particular exposure may have in the success of an orchard is probably much over-emphasized in the popular mind.

In districts in which alkali soils occur, sites for peach orchards should be selected with a view to avoiding them. While the peach tree can be grown where there is a limited amount of the alkali salts, they cause disaster if present in large quantities. It is safer, therefore, to avoid them as far as possible. As a general proposition, a site that is elevated considerably above the surrounding areas is to be preferred for a peach orchard. Relative elevation is generally of greater importance than actual elevation above sea level.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Dear Friend:

Don't miss the dirt road demonstration at Bedford on July 20th. You may never again have a chance to see the best road machinery made operated by experts, and every ounce of power turned into good road.

The piece of road (2.1 miles) has been rotten ever since the oldest inhabitant can remember; washed gutters on the hillside; rough stone in the road; breakers that jar you loose from your insides; too narrow in places, too ambitious in others. On a dark night you can play safe by letting your horse follow the stream as the road has a fine dip in the middle.

That piece of road is to be resurfaced. It will be re-made from start to finish; shaped as a road should be, have enough width, breakers all taken off, gutters fixed so they will not wash, and the whole thoroughly rolled, and the cost per mile will not be more than the average tax per mile levied each year in our townships. All done while you watch.

The cheapest things in the world are advice and criticism; they cost nothing and usually that is just what they are worth. The supervisor gets a lot of that cheap sort of contribution.

Now is the chance for the voter and the supervisor alike to get accurate knowledge; to see how to construct road that will stand up and how to do it for the least money. If you come your advice to the supervisor will no longer be inexperienced or cheap; it will be based on what you have seen and understood.

What's wrong with our present system of road making, anyway? A lot of things.

Nine out of ten supervisors who try to shape roads as they should be draw to the center of the road the dirt and grass that are on the edges. If they would add a little bran and middlings to the grass we might stop our horses and give them a nice balanced ration; or we might pasture a few more of our cows in the road. Otherwise the grass is wasted. It makes mighty poor road material.

And the dirt that was in the gutter got there because it washed off the road. It was too light a stick. What's the sense in putting it back again? If you could nail it down it might stay; otherwise putting it back just keeps it circulating.

Then there is our dear, old, familiar friend, the breaker. Lots of people think the breaker is a positive, if painful, necessity; that we can't get along without it. Come on over to Bedford and see just how the breaker can be gotten rid of, while you are actually saving money that you would have to spend otherwise to cart away refuse. Swat the breaker and make money and save doctor's and blacksmith's bills.

Suppose you saw a neighbor cradling his wheat and oats; or suppose he hired a threshing machine engine to run his separator? Or suppose your neighbor had a nice big limestone bank on his farm and was miles away and broke out limestone and paid someone for it and then carted it to his farm. Or suppose he did his plowing and harrowing but did not decide beforehand what he was going to sow in any of his fields. I think you would tap your head significantly and murmur "Dixmunt" or "Kirkbrides" or something of that sort.

Well that is just what we are doing with our road problems. No planning in advance; using machinery that should have been sold for junk years ago; using the spade and the wheelbarrow and the toothpick; and where we do use engine power hitching a single machine to the engine and then throwing bouquets at ourselves for our own effort. And when we want to fill a chuck hole or round out a sink we haul dirt for a half mile instead of leveling the dirt that is right under our eyes.

The demonstration at Bedford is to show how cheaply road can be made where the work is planned in advance, supervised in the doing, and every ounce of power in the engine makes its corresponding unit of road. That's efficiency.

Go into any country where land values are high, where you find blooded stock, plenty of silos, good, modern barns and houses with all modern conveniences and the first thing that strikes you is that the roads are fine. The two conditions are always found together. But the good roads must come first. A fine system of roads in this country means doubled farm values and convenient and comforts that we cannot now afford. Why not go after them? Very truly yours, A. E. Ross, Agriculturist.

By Your Lathe

You need skill of hand, a keen eye and steady nerves, and when you get a crackerjack chew or smoke you know how it helps all three. Nothing like tucking good old FIVE BROTHERS into your pipe or taking a man's size chew, to hold you steady and put gimp into the job.

FIVE BROTHERS

is a substantial, satisfying, healthful tobacco—made for real men who like the honest taste of real tobacco.

Manly men cannot get satisfaction out of insipid mixtures, any more than they can make a meal off of marshmallows. You go to FIVE BROTHERS to satisfy your tobacco hunger, just as you go to a beefsteak to satisfy stomach hunger.

We make FIVE BROTHERS out of pure Southern Kentucky leaf. We age it three to five years—so as to make it rich, ripe and mellow—sweet, juicy and pleasing. It's got the snap and taste to it.

It's the big, two-fisted kind of men, the country's "finest" who use FIVE BROTHERS because it is the one tobacco that always satisfies them.

You try FIVE BROTHERS for a week, and you'll always keep it on the job.

FIVE BROTHERS is sold everywhere—get a package today.

POULTRY FACTS

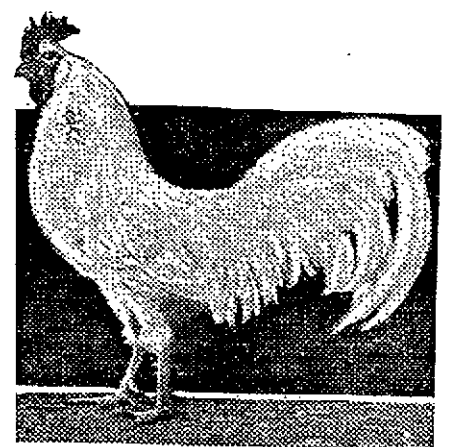

WHITE LEGHORNS ARE BEST

Pullet Is Quickly Brought to Maturity and Soon Starts Laying—White Eggs in Demand.

"Why are White Leghorns good birds to own?" I would say, that, profit being the aim of the commercial poultryman, the well-bred White Leghorn of good laying strain seems best to meet his need.

The Leghorn pullet is quickly brought to maturity, and if of good strain quickly goes to work for her owner. To be sure, if she is hatched very early she may molt slightly, but she will have laid pretty nearly enough eggs to pay for herself by the time the molt comes, and with proper care she is laying again in a few weeks.

White eggs bring the highest price and are in growing demand. That is a big factor in favor of the Leghorn, writes Temple Smith of Eglantine Farms, Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia Ledger.

We have trap-nest records showing quite a number of our birds laying a hundred, or more than a hundred eggs, within twelve months from date of being hatched. I recall one that laid her one hundredth egg the day she was eleven months old. Such birds are pretty safely and well in the 200-egg class.

Please do not take me as saying that any large flock of layers averages 200 eggs. Nor are all Leghorns even good layers. With Leghorns as with any pure breed, the result depends quite as much on the strain as on the breed, but all the eggs a Leghorn lays are white, hence worth most. So the Leghorn would still lead. Much, too, depends on comfortable housing and proper feeding and attention, whatever breed is kept.

YOUNG CHICKS NEED WARMTH

Utmost Care Should Be Exercised to See That Little Fellows Do Not Get Chilled.

Some incubators have a space around the egg tray for the purpose of letting the newly hatched chicks drop into it, off the tray. If we had an incubator of this kind, we would stuff the opening with flannel rags, or newspapers crushed lightly and arranged to permit circulation of air, and keep the chicks on the warm tray until ready to remove them, says a writer in an exchange. If it becomes overcrowded, better take out the thoroughly dry, first-hatched chicks, into a flannel-lined, warm basket, and close the door quickly.

There is a difference of from five to nine degrees in temperature between the tray and the floor of the nursery. In some machines the floor has openings for ventilation.

Imagine a wet chick tumbling down from a temperature of 103 to 105 degrees, into one of from 90 to 96 degrees. It will fluff out and apparently be all right; but nine times out of ten it will die before the tenth day.

Babies and chicks need warmth; flannel for the chicks is about as necessary as for the babies.

TUBERCULOSIS IN OLD FOWLS

More Likely to Be Affected by Disease Than Young Stock—Make Two Years the Age Limit.

It is found at the North Dakota station, that old chickens are more likely to be affected by tuberculosis than young stock. This is fowl consumption, the disease sometimes called "going light."

Old birds should not be kept anyway. It is recommended that such stock be killed off and only young stock kept, two years being the age limit.

The disease spreads faster among poultry kept in poorly lighted and poorly ventilated houses, as is the case with human beings.

Value of Squashes.

Some poultrymen believe in feeding small squashes to give body or bulk to the mashers. They say that this resulting mixture is found very satisfactory, and seems to be particularly palatable not only for fowls, but also for dogs and cats.

Point

July 12—Lorren Risling of Altoona spent several days last week here with his parents and children. Roy King left on Monday to resume his work on the telephone lines at Uniontown, after a three months' leave of absence.

Last Thursday morning Fred Culp of Schellsburg brought the following ladies in his automobile to your correspondent's residence: Mrs. S. S. Poorman, Mrs. Benson Culp and daughter, Genie, Mrs. W. L. Van Ormer and daughter and Miss Jessie Garlinger. Fred then went out to Fishertown Cemetery where he helped to put up a monument. About ten o'clock R. C. Smith brought Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Frank Miller of Conneville, which made the party complete. The ladies certainly had a good time. During the evening Dr. W. L. Van Ormer motored out for the ladies. The Doctor is a great lover of all that is beautiful and he had the chance of admiring the lot of pretty flowers of all colors in our yard, which is comprised of scarlet and pink rambler roses, purple clematis, snowball hydrangeas, other kinds of roses of different colors and dozens of other flowers. The invitation is extended to call again.

Mrs. R. C. Smith visited her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Fetter, at Osterburg on Saturday.

Your correspondent and Miss Louise Amick took in the sights of the flag raising in Schellsburg on Saturday. Schellsburg people and those of the surrounding country are always patriotic and can always depend upon a large gathering on Memorial Day or on any other patriotic demonstration, such as last Saturday. The crowd was large and the services good.

Birthday Party

A most delightful birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoover Tuesday evening, July 5, in honor of Edward Hoover. The evening was spent in listening to music and playing games. A very dainty luncheon was served consisting of ice cream, cakes, candies, etc., after which the guests departed wishing him many more happy birthday days. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Brown and children, John, Robert and Martha; Misses Pearl Sell, Susan Over, Alma Keiper, Effie Grace, Susan Johnson, Martha Snowden, Kathryn Bolger, Verna Clouse, Gertrude Stayer, Edward Hoover, Chalmers Felton, Mark Bolger, Howard Keiper, Rudolph Hoover, John Bechtel, Clyde Sell, Nason Hoffman, Arthur Byers, James Dillon and Paul Replogle.
